TAU KAPPA EPSILON

This year the Delta Chi chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity at Gannon earned second place award as Top Teke Chapter of the world's largest fraternity. Tau Kappa Epsilon has 323 active chapters in both the United States and Canada; the Gannon chapter competed with all other small college chapters to win this honor. The brothers have served the campus and the community here for twelve years. Among their yearly activities, the Tekes once again provided the local area with the fine professional entertainment by bringing the Pozo Seco Singers to Gannon for the annual Fall concert. They again decorated Old Main to spread the spirit of Christmas to all their fellow students, as well as to the faculty and administration. They volunteered their services for the United Fund Campaign. In addition, to their annual Spring picnic for the children at St. Joseph's Home, they painted all of their playground equipment. Some of the brothers are members of Blue Key and Student Council; some were named to Who's Who. In addition to contributing to the social, academic, and service functions of the campus, the well rounded brothers of Tau Kappa Epsilon are the 1966-67 all-college intramural champs.

DELTA SIGMA PHI

This past year the Gamma Rho chapter of Delta Sigma Phi has continued to be a service to the Gannon Community. Four brothers have been named to the Blue Key National Honor Fraternity and five brothers served on Student Council. In national competition with other chapters of Delta Sigma Phi, the Gamma Rho chapter was awarded the Phi award for outstanding leadership on campus. Because of the combined efforts of the brothers, there have been numerous articles in the Erie Times dealing with the outstanding appearance of the house. As in previous years, the brothers published Fast Break, the Gannon basketball program. The brothers have strongly supported the Gannon Intramural program. Delta Sigma Phi was represented in every sport that was offered.

In an effort to live up to their self-acclaimed reputation of being the "friendliest fraternity on campus," the Pikes this year continued to make themselves known on campus. The gold and white jacketed brothers were seen last Fall passing out their desk blotters which contain a school calendar, and lists of social events, basketball games, and important telephone numbers. The brothers of Pi Kappa Alpha also actively participate in most campus activities and organizations, including having brothers distinguished by being named to "Who's Who."

ALPHA PHI DELTA

Beta Rho chapter of Alpha Phi Delta was initiated in November of 1959. It is Gannon's smallest fraternity and was designed to be just that. Its members have, however, displayed their prominence on campus and in the community. Each year the fraternity publishes the Gannon basketball schedules, sponsors a Christmas party for the children at St. Joseph's Home, and as highlights to the social season it holds a spaghetti dinner in the Fall and a card party-fashion show in the Spring at St. Paul's. The chapter also participates in intramurals and has brothers in Blue Key and on Student Council. Its greatest achievement, however, is its scholastic proficiency. Alpha Phi Delta has held the IFC scholastic trophy for the past four years. Since this fraternity believes in the total education of the individual, the brothers feel that a small organization gives its members individuality, and lends them an opportunity for personal development and the cultivation of lasting friendships. In a sense then, Alpha Phi Delta is restrictive and exclusive; for them, membership is an honor earned only by high standards.

PERSHING RIFLES

The ability to perform with a precision drill team demonstrates discipline and many hours of practice. This year under the leadership of Joseph Sears the National Society of Pershing Rifles, Company 0-5, reached a new peak of perfection in precision drill. They retained their title as fifth in the Nation and reigning State Champions in Intercollegiate Drill Team Competition. The P/R's were of service to the College and the community by aiding St. Joseph Orphanage and the Booker T. Washington Center and by numerous public exhibitions of precision drill.

Gannon chapter of Scabbard and Blade provides an opportunity for men of leadership potential to display their abilities. Cadets elected to Scabbard and Blade must be of junior or senior class standing, have maintained a superior average in all subjects, and possess qualities of leadership, patriotism, efficiency, integrity, and honor. *Company D, 14th Regiment is Gannon's chapter of the National Society which has 200 chapters in all. The cadets receive training both in the field and in the classroom to prepare them for when they will receive commissions as Army officers upon graduation.

RAIDERS

An important field in military training and readiness today is that of counter-guerilla tactics. Gannon's own Raider Company is an organization which is dedicated to in-depth training of this type. The Raiders learn such operations as hand-to-hand combat, patrolling, bayonet tactics, and camouflage techniques. The main emphasis, however, is placed on physical conditioning and field teamwork. Through all these disciplines, the Raider develops leadership capabilities which are vital both in time of military service and peace time living.

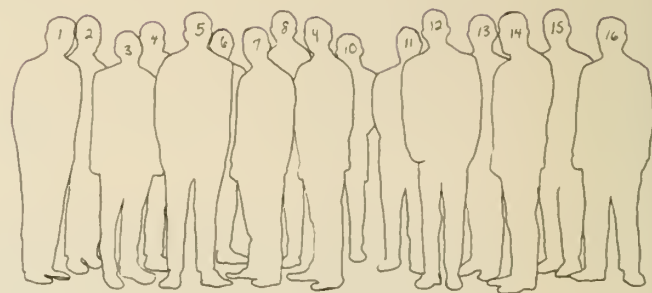

ALPHA PHI OMEGA

The Rho Chi chapter is Gannon's representation of the national service fraternity, Alpha Phi Omega. Its purpose is simply service: to the college, to the community. The Rho Chi chapter was founded on Gannon campus in 1965, as Omega Alpha Phi. On May 20, 1967 the local group joined the national fraternity, making it the newest national on campus. Some of the fraternity's service projects this year have been ushering at Playhouse events, ushering at the Cultural Series, taping all of the Cultural Series programs, decorating for the 8-Ball, and distributing coin boxes for the March of Dimes Campaign.

BLUE KEY

Blue Key National Honor Fraternity is an organization originated to give recognition to those men on college campuses who have shown merit in scholastic excellence, leadership, and contribution to the advancement of their respective colleges. Gannon's branch of Blue Key has managed to induct a very representative membership. Besides being an honor fraternity, Gannon's group also seeks to serve the campus by sponsoring the annual Winter Carnival which was held in February this year.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

Designed to be the governing and coordinating board for all fraternities, the Interfraternity Council promotes the general interests of both the fraternities and the college. The Council is composed of members of the individual fraternities who work together to improve relations among the separate brotherhoods and between them and the college. Besides being a coordinating board, IFC awards a trophy to the social fraternity having the highest academic average for the year. This trophy was awarded at the first annual Greek Weekend held in February.

ASSOCIATION OF GANNON COEDS

The third year on the Gannon campus for the Association of Gannon Coeds saw them grow to new strength as they provided a source of vitality and service to the school. The third annual Ugly Man Contest, sponsored by this organization, proved to be a success, as was their bake sale. In addition, they held an annual tea for the wives of the faculty and sponsored Diane Jenkins as a Winter Carnival Candidate.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Because they are concerned with their own future and that of the world, the Gannon Historical Society has as one of its main purposes to be well informed of former world happenings. Their belief is that through studying the records of past societies and civilizations, they can come to a better knowledge of themselves and the world they live in. The club offers many opportunities for enrichment such as field trips, lectures, and individual research projects.

Development in a student's academic career is not achieved solely in the class room. Some students are willing to exert their efforts to support activities which are not directly connected with their major field of study. Efforts such as this cannot always be recognized, but whenever possible they are. Alpha Psi Omega National Honorary Dramatics Fraternity was founded for just such a purpose. As a means of recognizing both their outstanding achievement and their ability in the field of dramatic arts, several students have been named to Alpha Psi Omega at Gannon this year.

TALISMAN PLAYERS

Continuing this year with their purpose to promote the theatrical arts at Gannon, the Talisman Players presented "The Alchemist" during the fall semester and "Playboy of the Western World" during the spring semester. Besides these well-known productions, they also presented an "Evening of One Acts" which were all student directed. Talisman Players have demonstrated student development by means of full student participations in all facets of the theatre.

This year, because of the inspiration and guidance of Dr. John Rouch, the English majors formed a new organization which is dedicated to the development within its members of an appreciation of the arts, especially literature, and to provide a means for people from the academic community who have like interests to be able to associate. The Roundtable saw this as an opportunity to bring students and faculty from all disciplines into contact with each other on more informal and enjoyable grounds than the classroom affords. Among its several activities this year, The Roundtable had a theatre-party to see the "Taming of the Shrew;" enjoyed guest lecturers, informal get-togethers, and special movies shown at the Student Union.

THE ROUNDTABLE

MODEL U.N.

Once again this year, Gannon College students and the Political Science Department sponsored a Model U.N. for high school student participation. The project was initiated several years ago by Rev. Joseph Barr, head of Gannon's Political Science Department. It is designed to arouse an awareness in the high school student of how the actual world organization works in trying to find solutions to today's international problems. This year they considered such topics as the Middle East tension, the Southeast Asian threat to peace, U.N. economic and social aid, and the admission of Communist China to the organization. The Gannon students who participate serve as advisors to the 800 area high school delegates. It is another example of development through helping others.

The American Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers is an organization designed to bring together those men interested in fields of specialized science. The I.E.E.E. helps the learning engineer correlate the theories of electrical engineering with the actual practices and applications. It is a meeting ground where the novice will be lost among cathode-ray oscilloscopes, signal generators, and vacuum-tube generators.

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers at Gannon offers mechanical engineering majors a chance to become affiliated with one of the largest professional engineering organizations in the world. Through affiliation with the student and national organization, the student can increase his technical competence, and his awareness of the engineer's role in society after graduation.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council serves the college as the official student voice in all campus affairs: academic, social, and administrative. The background of the Council demonstrates its past success in providing the students with an outlet through which they can make known their complaints and offer suggestions for changes in school policy. In addition to this, the Council also coordinates club activities and sponsors events such as the mixers and the annual 8-Ball. Perhaps its greatest achievement to date, came this year with the successful revision of the college's cut-system.

ALPHA KAPPA PSI

Formerly the Accounting Club, Kappa Psi Business Fraternity changed its name last Spring and opened its membership to all Business majors. They petitioned Alpha Kappa Psi National Business Fraternity this year for membership status. In March of 1968 Kappa Psi became the Theta Iota chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi National Professional Business Fraternity. As a professional organization on campus the fraternity has sought this year to enlarge the campus's professional program to help the business student's development in his chosen field.

GANNON TUTORIAL PROGRAM

66

The Gannon Tutorial Program is one of the least known groups on campus, yet it is also one of the most effective and beneficial. The tutors give up two hours of their time each week to give someone else the chance for the benefits of a college education. They tutor area high school students in any subject they may deficient in. With the college atmosphere as a background, they seek to encourage, stimulate, and promote in these students the desire for self-betterment. The tutors give of their time and of themselves for the growth and development of others, receiving no pay other than gratification in knowing they have done a job well and have made new friends.

SOCIOLOGY CLUB

One of the most active groups on campus this year has been the Sociology Club. They have undertaken to provide all sociology majors with pre-graduation first hand experience by arranging on job training with local social service agencies. This has been done in addition to the normal service functions the group has carried on in previous years. The value of such a project is obvious both as an advantage to the individual students and to the agencies they worked for.

AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF PHYSICS

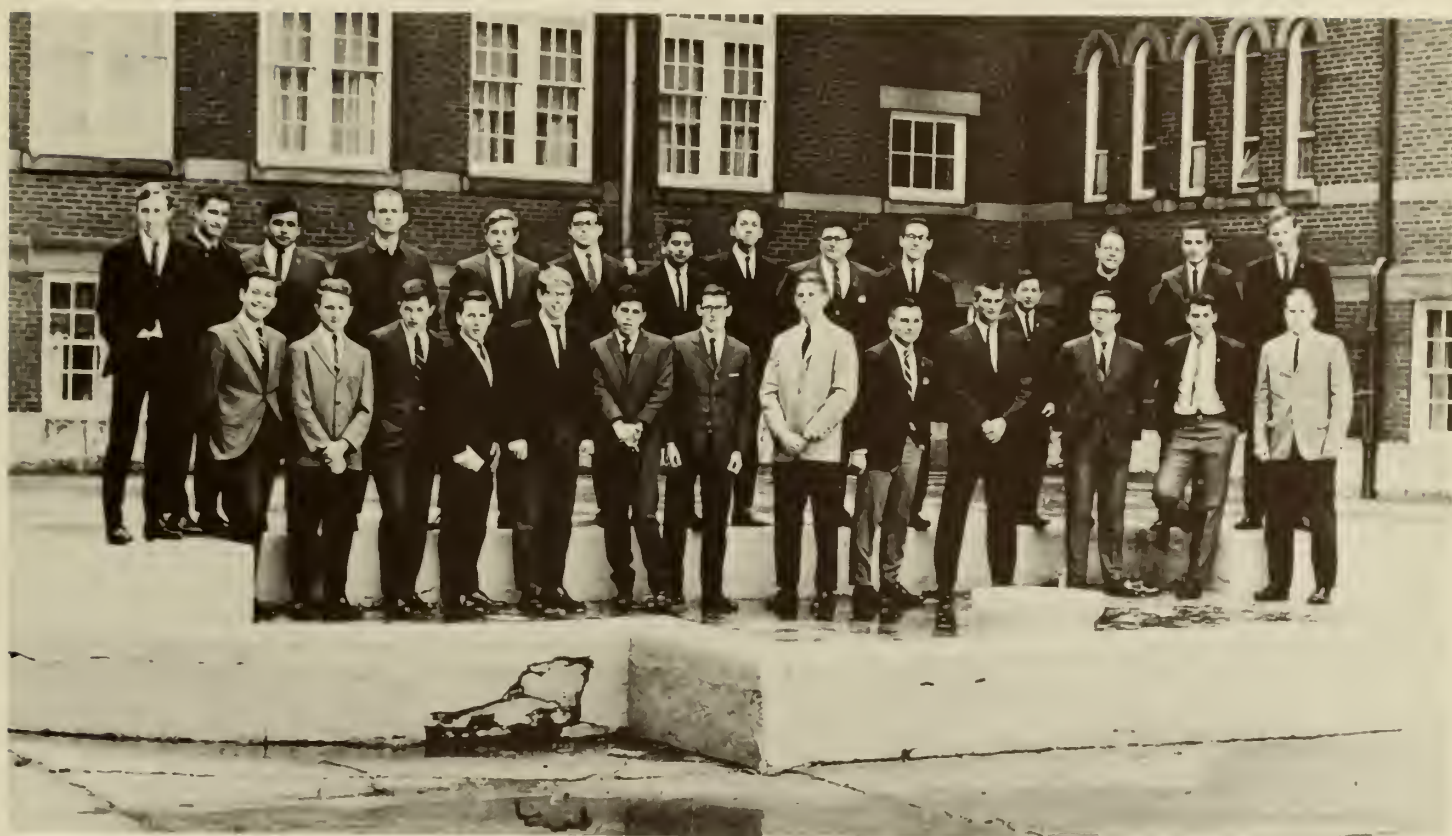

The American Institute of Physics was founded in 1966 for the purpose of promulgating the study of Physics. The A.I.P. is an active example of students banding together under the auspices of a parent organization to promote the ideals and enthusiasms of the natural sciences. This year, because of the efforts of Dr. Impeduglia, members had the opportunity to hear speak and later meet with Dr. C. N. Yang, Nobel Prize winner in Physics. Several field trips were also planned; the most outstanding of which was a tour of the Brookhaven National Laboratories, where much of the world's research in sub-atomic particles is done. Along with the spirit of development throughout the college, the A.I.P. members apply themselves to original research also. Some of these activities are the calculation of Gray's constant and the determination of the elusive $d(\text{bubble})/dt$.

ST. THOMAS MORE

Individual commitment is the primary goal of the St. Thomas More Club: Commitment in one's own personal life and commitment to participation actively in the lay apostolate. The More Club is a key example of development on the Christian college campus. Through its various activities—the Latin-American program, the St. Joseph's Home program, and the annual weekend forum—the club again this year demonstrated through its members how the campus organization can play a role in developing the individual for life.

With an outlook for the interests of the entire college community, the Psychology Club was formed to give students a chance to express and fulfill themselves outside the classroom. Membership includes both psychology majors and all those other students interested in the fields of psychology or psychic phenomena. Their program this year consisted of movies concerning this and related fields, guest lecturers prominent in the area of psychology and human relations, a field trip to Warren State Hospital, and informal discussion groups with professors of the Gannon Psychology Department.

POLITICAL SCIENCE CLUB

The Political Science Club has devoted itself to many projects concerning politics and government. In an effort to allow the student body an opportunity to express their choice in local, state, and national elections this organizations sponsored mock elections in conjunction with real elections. This year their resources were directed toward sponsoring a mock presidential primary in connection with the Time Magazine college primary held on campuses throughout the country.

SKI CLUB

Many people talk about how college students should be able to have special privileges for admissions and prices for various entertainments, but few people do anything about it. The Ski Club proved an exception. The tri-college organization has managed to attain special ski privileges including lessons for its members. The highlight of the year is the weekend trip to a major resort area. But throughout the winter months, all loyal members pray three times a day for a snowy weekend so they can load on the bus and be off for enjoyment on the local slopes.

The Student Investment Trust is a student run organization in which they apply their classroom training to a real life situation. The aim of the S.I.T. is to help the student understand the operation of the stock market and the American free-enterprise system. They learn by doing. The students started out little more than ten years ago with a gift from Mr. Edward Lamb of $12,500. Since that time, by making their own decisions about how to invest the money they have more than trippled that amount.

The Alpha Psi Chapter of Pi Sigma Epsilon, a national professional fraternity in marketing, sales, and management, is in its second year as a campus organization. With a close relationship to the Sales and Executive Club of Erie, the twenty-seven members of this organization, under the capable advisorship of Mr. Peter Smaltz, sought to create, promote, encourage, and stimulate the basic ideas and principles in the fields of marketing and management, and to learn the stiff criteria of good salesmanship.

R.O.T.C. BAND

The disciplines of a college career are many. But some ambitious students choose to add more disciplines by their activities. Such an activity is the R.O.T.C. Band. Besides the many hours spent in the classrooms, labs, and library, the band members choose also to spend additional hours practicing and rehearsing so that Gannon can continue to be proud of the fine performances put on by the band under the direction of Mr. Joseph Sulkowski.

CHORUS

Three years ago, twenty-three people gathered together and thus was formed the Gannon College Chorus. Now more than forty Gannon students are members, each feeling a real sense of accomplishment and pride in the work that they are doing. Benefit performances for both Christmas and Easter were begun this year which gives this dynamic organization an unselfish, as well as a worthy purpose. The benefit performances were given in addition to the annual Christmas and Spring concerts, and the Winter Carnival performance. These activities, combined with the self-expressive and creative outlet singing naturally provides, presents the Chorus as one of the most meritorious groups at Gannon.

TRI-BETA

Theta Omega is Gannon's chapter of Beta Beta Beta National Honorary Society for students of Biological sciences. It is an affiliate of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. The primary purposes of the Gannon group are: stimulation of sound scholarship, dissemination of scientific knowledge, and promotion of biological research. Tri-Beta is not one of those honorary societies that exist only for the honor of the students appointed. It has many practical and productive activities such as: providing guest speakers for seminars; sponsoring the Gannon College Science Day; promoting biological research for presentation to regional conventions; and creating an atmosphere of interest and curiosity in the biological expositions of the college. Those students appointed truly deserve the honor because of their scholastic standing and their contributions to their major field.

GANNON KNIGHT

The student newspaper is the most representative of all student publications since it appears most often and is the most active voice of the students in general. This year, under the direction of Mr. Michael Bacon, the KNIGHT staff has endeavored to improve this student vehicle in every way possible. The most significant improvement this year is probably in the increased number of the staff members and the increased efficiency with which they have worked this year. Throughout the year the entire staff has worked hard to present the school with a newspaper based on good coverage and good taste. They have not been afraid to experiment with new forms to bring to Gannon a more attractive and a more interesting paper.

CROSS COUNTRY

The harriers of Coach Bud Elwell finished what could be called the most successful season in Gannon's cross country history. The squad finished the regular season with an 11-4 dual meet record, including a seven-meet streak at the season's end, but better things were to come.

The Knight runners, pulling an upset over undefeated, heavily favored Waynesburg, copped the NAIA District 18 Meet for the first time in the school's history.

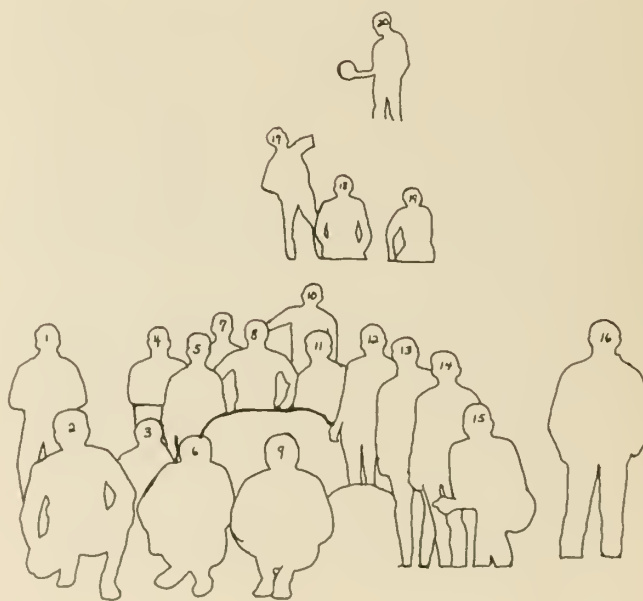

The Lancers next outing was a trip to Omaha, Nebraska, for the NAIA National Meet. They finished 24th in a field of 53, a very respectable finish for the hard working crew. Matt Laskowski was the top individual runner for the harriers, followed closely by Tony DiPasquale and Lou Qualtiere. Also adding depth were Terry Dwyer, Dan Pomerleau, Jack McLaughlin, Jerry Grygo, Tom Dwyer, Paul Friedman, and Nick Petroff.

Soccer emerged as one of the two new sports on campus this year and helped brighten the sports future of Gannon. Under the direction of Lou Marciani, the soccer team competed in two games with local colleges. Despite the fact that they dropped two close decisions, the team played well. With most of the players coming back next year, and with a chance to start practice early in the fall, the soccer season should be a highlight in Gannon's sports calendar.

It has become a habit at Gannon to produce winning basketball teams, and this year is no exception. This, however, could have been questionable after the first four games—a win at home and three straight losses on the road. But Coach John “Denny” Bayer has done what he has been noted for—finding the right combination and instilling the team with spirit and desire.

The results of this became apparent when the Knights reeled off a nine-game winning streak and in the process earned the trophy as the outstanding team in the Gem City Bowl Tourney, which the Lancers hosted over the holidays. Most impressive on the long list of players who teamed to make the season a success was freshman Glen Summors. He broke the seasonal and game rebounding records and also emerged as one of the top scoring threats on the squad. Senior Don Ruminski and sophomore Ron Johnson teamed with Summors to give Gannon its strongest board strength in the school’s history. Ruminski’s steadying influence was an important factor to this young team. Johnson was the man who delivered the key basket when things seemed to be going wrong for the Knights, and as the season progressed, matured into the complete ballplayer.

In the backcourt, the Knights had the right combination in high scoring Larry Daly and defensive standout Rick Uritus. Daly’s long bombs consistently rattled the opponents, while Uritus took charge in running the offense and came up with the key defensive plays.

Coach Bayer had a strong bench and could call upon Al Chrisman, Stan Herring, John Wassell, and Joe Glassmacher when the need arose.

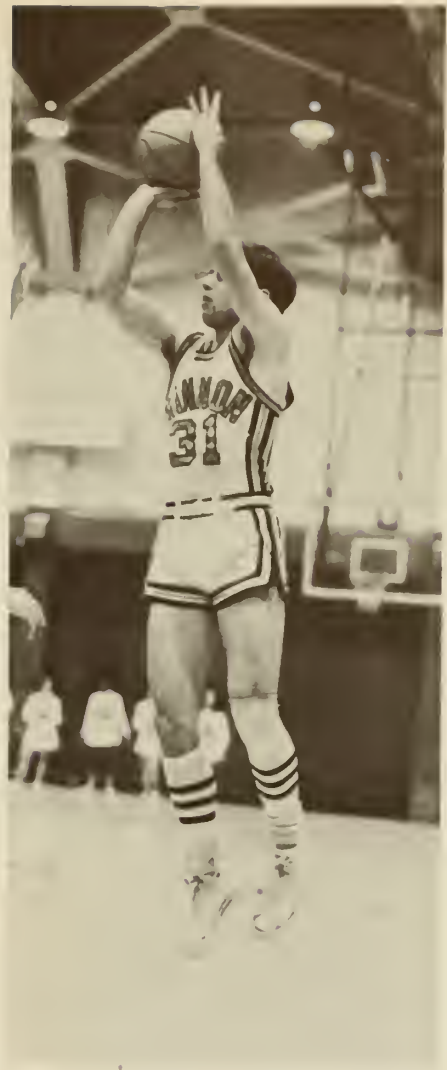

As the long, hard season neared its completion, it was evident that the Maroon and Gold would be awarded another post-season tourney bid as a reward for their fine performance throughout the year.

RIFLE TEAM

Coach Taglieri again had the task of preparing the rifle team for competition in the Lake Erie Conference. And the Knights were well prepared, promising to finish the season well over the .500 mark. It was an inexperienced team that represented Gannon, with Neil Herzog the only senior. John DePalma and Dave Drabic had also shot for the Knights last year, and with newcomers George Danish, Rich Gerner, Lou Giannelli, Roy Constable and Gerry Riddle formed a solid team. Coach Taglieri is optimistic about next year's team with so many good shooters returning to the range.

WRESTLING TEAM

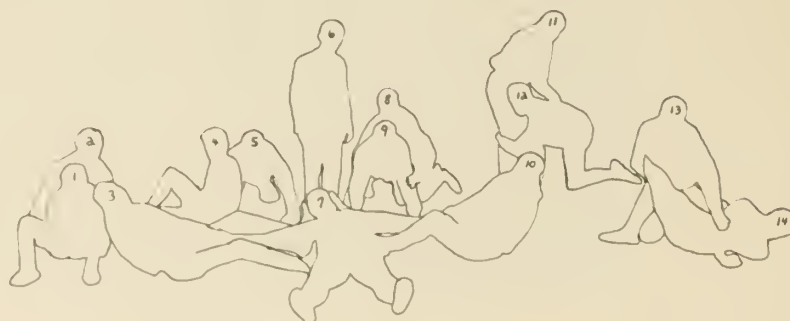

Another of the new sports that Coach Lou Marciani started this year, the wrestling club has come a long way since its inception in early December. Competing against other colleges in the area, it took the Knight grapplers only two matches to post their initial win, which came in the home opener for the sport.

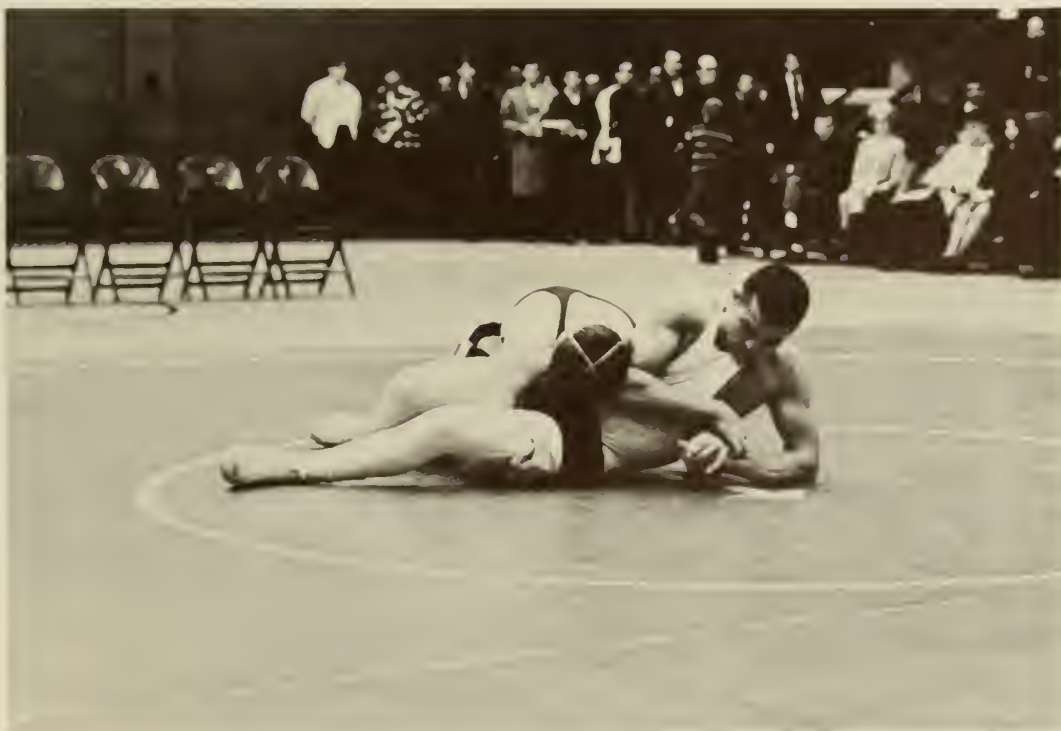

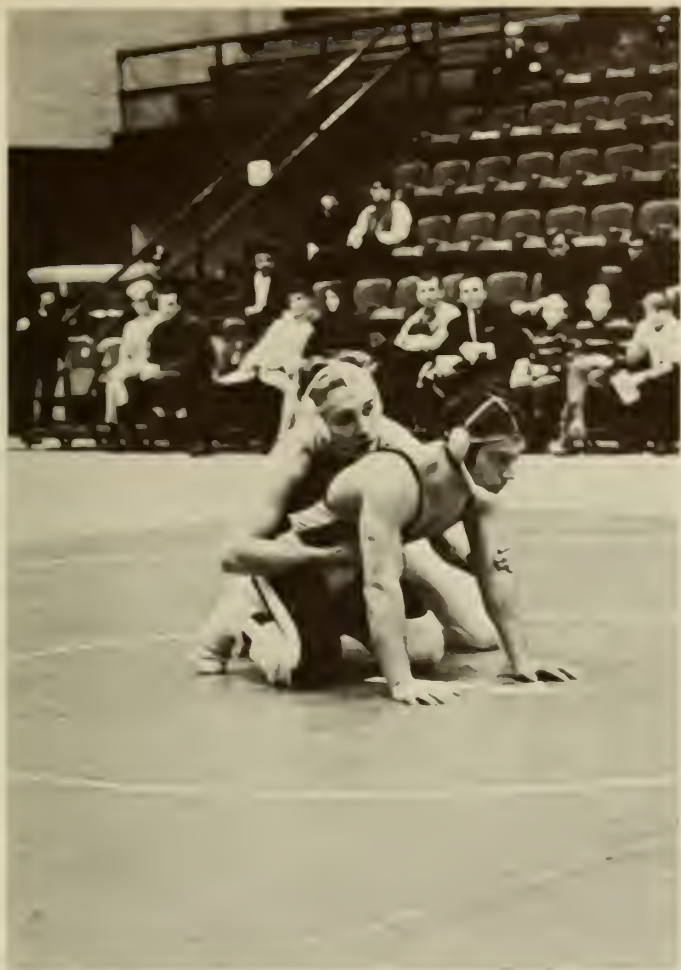

Topping the wrestlers this year has been Matt Laskowski, and other outstanding performances have come from Jim Hughes, Pat Dwyer, Gary Hull, and Bob Herbstritt. Since all the competitors were underclassmen, this young sport with its young squad has a bright future.

BASEBALL

Success is the word that best describes the 1967 Gannon College baseball team. For only the second time in the school's history, the squad had a winning record. Before the season was completed, marks for the most wins, most consecutive wins and winning percentage all fell by the wayside. In addition the team was extended an invitation to the NAIA District 18 playoffs, the first such bid in the school's history.

Among the many stars on the squad, Larry Potash stood out as the shining light. The freshman southpaw, although compiling only a 4-4 pitching record, was sixth among NCAA College Division hurlers with an earned run average of 0.65, and became the first player in Gannon History to become an All-American in the spring sport. Another frosh, Dave Acanfora, was the top hitter among the regulars, posting a .434 mark. Other outstanding performers included Ken Glassmacher, Mike Nuara, John Coffey, Paul Kazmierczak, Gary Zaleski, John Anderson, and Lou Williamson.

After losing their opening match, the Knights reeled off eight straight wins for the best tennis record in school history. Gannon white-washed St. Bonaventure, Edinboro, and Cleveland State, while losing but one point to Alliance, Canisius, and Geneva. The highlight of the season came when the Lancers bested seven other teams in the Fredonia Invitational.

A pair of freshmen sensations, Dave Drabic and Jim McNutt, each were undefeated in singles action. Tom Pacansky, although slowed down by an injury, was never topped in either singles or doubles competition. Bill Root, John Stine, and Rich Heibel contributed greatly to the talent laden squad.

TENNIS

The 1967 season proved to be another successful one for Coach Bud Elwell's linksters. The golfers posted a fine 13-5 record, and boosted Elwell's six-year mark to a remarkable 80-22. For the first time in their history, the knights opened their season by defeating Florida A&M in a tour which took them to the Sunshine State.

Joe Earley won his fourth letter and continued to pace the squad by copping medal honors in the Gannon Invitational. He finished with a low average of 75.2. Tom Simmons won 12 of his 17 matches, while Tom Nash, another four-year monogram winner, and Rolf Johnson continued their sterling performances.

DEDICATED TO:

A February beach
Sparkling with sun
A woman's smile
Of understanding
That once was
And never shall be forgot.

The college student, because he is integrally involved with the school year, and little else, tends to think of his life as a student in terms of this school year. While preoccupied with the individual events of the two semesters the student is developing, oftentimes unconsciously. Simultaneously the seasons of the year pass almost without recognition, yet they also have their own dynamic effect.

To accept the role of a student is to accept the challenge of change and development, for education is the process of intellectual, moral, spiritual, social and physical development. At whatever stage in the process of higher education one stands, the ability to look back in retrospect and recognize a change from what you were to what you are belongs to the true student.

Whether it be shorter skirts, longer hair or, on a larger scale, urban redevelopment and Hootenany Masses, the student perceives changes in himself, in the panoramic society of which he is a part, and in the passing of the seasons.

The LANCE staff has directed all of its resources toward an acceptable portrayal of the dynamism of this college community. Acknowledgement for the obvious success of this effort goes to Mr. Joseph Gavin and the LANCE staff. This editor wishes to thank all members of the LANCE staff whose advice and assistance ensured a successful yearbook.
